Could See Department Heads if It Had Business With His Road.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 30,-President James J. Hill of the Great Northern Railroad, refused to meet the State Railroad commission yesterday before continuing his journey to Portland. He stated that if the commission had any busi-ness to transact with his road it could do so with the heads of the traffic de-partment.

while Commissioners Fairchild and Me-Millan did not directly ask for a hearing they moved from the Butler hotel to the Washington, where the Hill party was stopping, so that they could be handy, should Mr. Hill express a desire to take up certain matters in which his road was interested.

In a speech delivered at the Rainier club last night, Mr. Hill paid his respects to the interstate Commerce commission, saying that the coast States were better off without it. He said that the State of Washington was enjoying the lowest possible rates at the present time but that the Government regulation of rates would paralyze the commerce of Washington.

The Hill party left for Tacoma without seeing the commission.
